From Rivers To Oceans: Through Deception, Betrayal, And Deceit By James Thorpe

People everywhere experience difficult times over the course of their lives and as a result, they are likely to experience many years of struggle coupling, frustration. The purpose of this book is to educate and inspire anyone willing to open his or her heart to words of an un-rehearsed background. Words given to the author straight from the power of God through Christ Jesus, what'll promote moral attitudes and principles one needs to enjoy a life free from un-necessary heartaches and barriers. From Rivers to Oceans read in its entirety, one completely understands how to handle the many curve balls life tends to throw through deception, on a consistent basis. Therefore, learning from it and being able to pass on the most important attributes one must acquire before gaining mastery over themselves and others. Finally, you'll learn effective ways of communicating with your loved ones, others and ultimately, God! The book's overview consists of three analogic parts- Rivers (accepting Christ), Lakes (belief/knowledge) and finally, Oceans (faith/love). Included are created poems by the author that coincide with the words given throughout each individual part.

Editorial Review

About the Author

James Thorpe is currently 39 years old and employed through the U.S Naval base where he works as a lead supervisor in the Navy's Galleys (cafeterias). He explains how he loves life and helping people of all "makes and models" where he does everyday on 40 hr work weeks. He sees the beauty of life despite, the many obstacles endured upon reaching the perfection within Jesus Christ. He contends that God used his eyes to influence the words written what're, "not just for himself but the world also". His passion is to write, he's begun writing his personal memoir and seeks to introduce it soon. Other than writing, James mostly enjoys playing basketball, dominoes and reading good non-fiction books. He credits his six children with the majority of his motivation. His ultimate goal however, is to fellowship completely with people of the same belief and faith as himself thereby, introducing this knowledge to them that're without it. The impetus for his book stem from the deception of man. He was blessed being introduced to Christ at a very young age and being quite interested in the way of church business. James was fascinated and intrigued by the pastor how he'd speak, to the point of mimicking him when he was home alone. He didn't realize it then, but all aforementioned was apart of him. By constantly being deceived throughout life, his soul ached and now restless because it knows what he'd forgotten. Through this pain, he has since been re-introduced to who he'd known all along... Jesus Christ! Ultimately, He has been reminded of his duty toward humanity through many avenues of extreme faith and contends from this day forward, that he'll continue to hear the Lord when He call. Continuing, to deliver God's message to "all who have ears".
