Brilliant Parents – Fascinating Teachers: The education of our dreams: forming happy and intelligent young people By Augusto Cury PhD

This book will change your view on how to produce an excellent education.

Forming sociable, happy, free and enterprising children and teenagers is a beautiful challenge nowadays. Loneliness has never been so intense: parents hide their feeling from their children, children hide their tears from their parents, and teachers hide themselves behind their chalk.

Stress and anxiety are part of the routine of adults and young people. The production of knowledge has multiplied, but the new generations are being formed more to repeat information, than to think.

World education is going through an unprecedented crisis. Is there hope? Yes!

In this book, the psychiatrist and scientist Augusto Cury demonstrates that we need to cultivate emotions and expand the intelligence of youth. And to do this, parents and teachers need tools to stimulate children and teenagers.

He demonstrates that to make a difference, we need to acquire the seven habits of brilliant parents and of fascinating teachers.

Besides, he calls attention to the seven capital sins of educators and advocates ten pedagogical techniques that can revolutionize the classroom and the living room.

Bestseller in Education and Applied Psychology
